NEH Grant Workshop

Dr. Douglas Arnold will conduct an information session and workshop for college and university faculty and administrators on the funding programs of the National Endowment for the Humanities, the largest funder of humanities projects in the country.

Participants will receive:

- An overview of NEH funding opportunities in research, education, public programs, preservation and access, challenge grants, and federal-state partnerships, with an emphasis on research opportunities and education programs.
- An introduction to the Endowment's current initiatives and special programs
- Examples of recently funded NEH projects.
- An overview of the Endowment's application and review process.
- Grant writing tips.

Douglas M. Arnold, Ph.D.

Douglas M. Arnold is a senior program officer in the NEH Division of Education Programs. He previously worked in the NEH Division of Research Programs. During his 19 years with the Endowment, he has been involved with a number of NEH grant programs, including Summer Seminars and Institutes, Landmarks of American History and Culture Workshops, Curriculum Development Programs, Fellowships and Summer Stipends and Scholarly Editions.

Arnold received a B.A. degree from Bates College and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in American history from Princeton University. A specialist in the American Revolution and the Early American Republic, he is the author of A Republican Revolution: Ideology and Politics in Pennsylvania, 1771-1790 (1989). Before joining the NEH staff, he was assistant and associate editor of seven volumes of The Papers of Benjamin Franklin (1978-1987) at Yale University. He continues to pursue historical editing projects.
