Description:

Grantsmanship for the Research Professional is a two-day executive education-style workshop that introduces and enhances skills associated with effective grant opportunity identification, proposal preparation, grant review process, and team science. The course will cover:

- Strategies for developing grant proposals that support both hypothesis-driven and need-based research activities
- Funding agencies and funding opportunity identification across the government (emphasis on NIH, NSF, and other federal funders), corporate, and foundation sectors
- Proposal review process and reviewer-centric grantsmanship
- Proposal planning, proposal components, and writing the specific aims and project narrative sections
- Budget development
- Proposal submission and post-award primer; and,
- Team Science

The course is designed for:

- Professionals at Research Universities, Research Institutes, and Hospitals
- Researchers at all levels (early career through faculty) conducting research in Engineering; Sciences (Biomedical, Health, Clinical, Physical, Natural and Social); Humanities; Law; and Education
- Research Development Professionals, Research Administrators, and Research Managers supporting individual researchers and/or teams of investigators

- Research Grant and Contract Officers in Sponsored Research Offices involved in pre-award activities
