

THE TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY SYSTEM

RESEARCH AND INNOVATION SECURITY AND COMPETITIVENESS INSTITUTE

- A dynamic convergence of over 600 leaders from federal agencies, 150+ universities, and 25 countries at ASCE 2025. Join us as we shape the future of academic research security, together. tx.ag/ASCEregister

ASCE 2025 THEME

Securing the Future of Research:
Innovation, Collaboration, and Resilience in a Changing World.

Thematic areas: (1) International Collaboration and Frameworks for Research Security; (2) Adapting to a Shifting Landscape: Best Practices for Your Research Security Program; (3) Leveraging Technology for Effective Research Security; (4) Emerging Challenges and Countering Threats

FEATURED KEYNOTES

Dr. Rebecca Spyke Keiser (NSF)
Laura Dehmlow (NCSC)
Signe Ratso (EU)
Jill Murphy (FBI)
David Cattler (DCSA)

FEATURED SPEAKERS

Sir Peter Mathieson
(University of Edinburgh)
SSA Ed You (FBI)
Dr. Elisabeth Paté-Cornell
(Stanford University)

NSF SECURE PROGRAM

The NSF SECURE Program leadership hope to use ASCE to communicate and receive valuable input from the research community.

EMPOWERING ACADEMIC RESEARCH SECURITY

Now in its ninth year, the annual ASCE Seminar stands as the preeminent gathering for training, networking, and collaboration, laser-focused on fortifying the academic research enterprise.

WHAT IS ASCE?

- The Academic Security and Counter Exploitation program is an annual conference spearheaded by The Texas A&M University System's RISC Institute to foster a sense of community among university research security professionals, uniting them in a collaborative defense against emerging threats.